

Autumn Convergence for a New National Agenda

Featuring:

Ben Thompson, climate activist, 350MA

Harris Gruman, SEIU political director

Leslie Cagan, peace, LGBT, and justice organizer

Neta Crawford, professor of political science at BU

AND YOU!

Many agree that we need to forge a more democratic nation based on social justice, sustainability, employment, and peace. To turn things around we need a vision of a new economy, a just society, and a new foreign policy that connects the issues. We need a message that points more clearly to the future we seek.

This convergence relies on conversation—listening and talking with each other. Join in roundtable discussions about how we can help activists together to become a more powerful force for change.

Sunday, November 24th, from 1:00 to 5:30 PM (door open 12:30)
SEIU Local 615, 26 West St, Boston (across from Park St Station)

Contact: info@masspeaceaction.org

617-354-2169

Register: bit.ly/convergence-2013

Website: masspeaceaction.org/event/convergence-2013

Twitter: #Converge13

Refreshments will be served!