Mobilization for a Nuclear-Free, Just and Sustainable World
April 26, 2015 ~ New York City

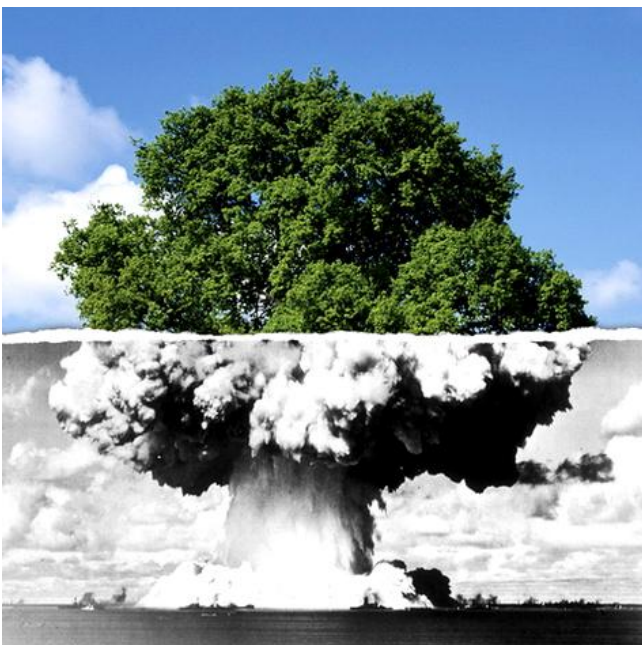

YOU can make a difference!

The United States, U.K., Russia, China and France long ago signed onto a commitment to negotiate the elimination of their nuclear weapons, but after 44 years this group has yet to hold its first meeting.

April 27, 2015 is when the nations of the world meet at the UN to determine what -- if anything -- can be done to compel the U.S. and other nuclear weapons states to adhere to their commitments. Between now and May, U.S. and international advocates urging the elimination of nuclear weapons by the U.S. and the other nuclear weapons states will be building a campaign of mass participation in events related to the Non-Proliferation Treaty Review Conference.

A world free of the threat of nuclear devastation starts with elimination of the U.S. and other nuclear arsenals. Instead, we are spending $1 trillion to modernize our nuclear weapons.

What's Happening

- International rally, march to the United Nations, peace festival and interfaith service— April 26
- Global Peace Wave – April 26
- International peace, justice and environmental conference – April 24 & 25

We need to take urgent action on climate change and turn away from US wars in the Middle East. The trillions squandered on today's wars and weapons are needed to fight climate change and for jobs, housing, and schools.

Will you help us make it happen by joining us in New York City to press the U.S. and other nuclear states to start negotiating?
